Astrological bibliography part 1

One thing that plagues the modern occult community is lack of access to sources. This is a pity, as many such sources are actually freely available online. Part of the trouble is knowing what exists. I was first brought to the attention of this bibliography, collated in the 1900s by @MuseumAstro https://twitter.com/MuseumAstro, (Alberto Forero) who uploaded scans of the whole thing onto his twitter feed. This is about as good a way as any to find what does exist as any.

As most of the books are in the public domain, in most cases scans of these books are available in some form online. Entries with the book emoji 📘are available in some form online. To that end, I intend that this document be a crowdfunded attempt to restore this astrological bibliography to the wider world. The task is rather large for any one person - 1340 entries - but with a crowdsourced effort this can be done easily. If 90 people each manage to complete 3 entries a day, the whole will be done in under a week. You can sign your names at the end of the document

As this document is rather large, I have split it into 2. Here is part 2

This document is a transcription of vol. 2 of F. Leigh Gardner's A Catalogue Raisonné of Works on the Occult Sciences, taken from the Internet Archive. The original is here
https://archive.org/details/catalogueraisonn02gard/page/n25/mode/2up

Or on Google books
https://books.google.com/books?id=2LhPpqDDmcIC&pg=PR3#v=onepage&q&f=false

As you can see, the OCR transcription is rather messy. Two things have to be done

1- To correct the OCR scan against the actual document

2- To find if there are any copies/scans of the books available online.

As for the first i request that the editors do not remove the page numbers (eg "10 BIBLIOTHECA ASTROLOGIA") in the text, as retaining them helps the navigation
As regards the 2nd point, here are some sites

- Google Books https://books.google.com/
- Internet Archive https://archive.org/
- Hathitrust https://www.hathitrust.org/
- International Association for the Preservation of Spiritualist and Occult Periodicals (IAPSOP) http://iapsop.com/
- Early English Books Online (Paywall, but university libraries may have it https://about.proquest.com/en/products-services/eebo/)

As for google books, you will often find them not available in full. There is a process for requesting full scans of the books, which works in most cases.
https://www.storytracer.org/google-books-how-to-get-the-full-text-of-public-domain-books/

Form letter: Hello, I think this book is out of copyright and in the public domain. Can you please make the full text available? Thanks.

> The author of this rare and curious work (which was burnt at Nantes by the Public Executioner) was, according to Leibnitz, the famous Capucin Father, Yves de Paris. This original edition, which was printed at the expense of the Marquis d'Asserat, is much sought after by the curious, as in the reprint the predictions respecting Europe, the sole cause of the work being condemned to the flames, were entirely omitted. Amongst the predictions to England are: in 1666, “Magna Calamitas" (the year of the Great Fire of London); in 1691, "Magna Reipublicae Turbatio" (General Ginkel's wars in Ireland); in 1705, “Adversa Omnia" (a mistake, witness the successes of the Duke of Marlborough and Earl of Peterborough); in 1756, "Minatur Maximum Excidium " (war declared against France).

146 Booker (John) Mercurius Cœlicus, or a Caveat to all People of the Kingdome, that now have, or shall hereafter happen to reade the counterfeit and most pernicious pamphlet written under the name of Naworth [pseud., i.e., Sir G. Wharton], or a New Almanacke and Prognostication for the yeare 1644. 4to. 8 pp. London, printed for John Partridge, 1643

147 M[organ] (S.) Prognosticon Posthumum, 1643/4, exactly calculated to the Meridian of London and may indifferently serve for all England, by way of Caution to the People of England, Scotland and Ireland, that shall happen to read Naworth as an Appendix to Maister John Booker's "Mercurius Cœlicus," written by S. M. Large 4to. 8 pp. London, 1643 (view)

148 Naworth (G.) Mercurio-Coelico Mastix, or an Anti-Caveat to all such as have (heretofore) had the misfortune to be Cheated and Deluded by that Grand and Traitorous Impostor of this Rebellious Age, JOHN BOOKER, in answer to a frivolous and senselesse Pamphlet of his, intituled, Mercurius-Coelicus, or a Caveat to all the People, &c. 4to. 16 pp. Oxford, 1644

149 Booker (John) A Rope for a Parret, or a Cure for a Rebell past Cure: being an Appendix or Rejoynder to "A Caveat to all People of the Kingdom "in answer to "Mercurio Coelico Mastix," a Scandalous and Scurrilous Pamphlet lately published by that Arch Turn Coat, GEORGE NAWORTH, sometime a Calculator for the Bishoprick of Durham, and now an Infamous Lying Chronologer at Oxford. Large 4to. 8 pp. London, John Partridge, March 6th, 1644

150 Booker (John) Mercurius Vapulaus, or Naworth Stript and Whipt, in Answer to a most Base and Scandalous Pamphlet, called, Mercurio Cœlico-Mastix, or an Anti-Caveat, &c., sent abroad from Oxford under the name of G. Naworth, in opposition to Mercurius Coelicus, lately penned by Mr. John Booker, by Timotheus Philo. Bookerus (pseud.). 4to. 8 pp. London, 1644 (view)

151 Taylor (John, The Water Poet) No Mercurius Aulicus, but some merry flashes of Intelligence with the Pretended Parliament's Forces besiedging of Oxford foure miles off, and the terrible taking in of a mill instead of the King and Citie; also the breaking of BOOKER, the Asse-tronomicall London Figure-flinger, his perfidious Prediction failing, and his great Conjunction of Saturne and Jupiter dislocated. 4to. 10 pp. (London), 1644 (view)

152 Booker (John) No Mercurius Aquaticus but a Cable Rope Doubly Twisted for JOHN TAYLOR, the Water Poet, who escaped drowning in a Paper Wherry Voyage, is reserved for another day as followeth — viz. (there is a rough woodcut of a gallows with a man hanging in a barge). 4to. 8 pp. (London), July 19, 1644 (view)

153 Taylor (John) [The Water Poet], being yet unchanged sends greeting to John Booker, that hanged him lately in a Picture in a traiterous, slanderous, and foolish London pamphlet, called, "A Cable Rope Double Twisted" &c. 4to. 8 pp. (London), 1644

154 [Booker (John)] A Rope Treble Twisted for John Taylor, the Water Poet, or rather for his Malignant Friends in London, which make use of his name to Slander and Abuse the Parliament and well-affected Party, in their pernicious pamphlets, and particularly John Booker, a man of known honesty and one who scorns to calculate for the Meridian of Oxford. 4to. 8 pp. London, 1644.

155 Booker (John) A Bloody Irish Almanack, or Rebellious and Bloody Ireland, discovered in some notes extracted out of an Almanack, printed at Waterford in Ireland for this yeare 1646, &c. 4t0. Printed at London for John Partridge, 1646 Collation (vi) 57 pp.

Giuntini (Francesco) (1523-90)

This Author is also known as Junctin de Florentia, he was a famous Doctor of Theology, and Almoner of Francois de Valois, the youngest Brother of Henry III., King of France. His work, the Speculum Astrologicæ is of the highest importance, as it contains the whole theory and practice of the Art, elaborated with the most perfect precision; the foundation of it is taken from a Greek work, by Claudius Ptolemy, one of the last of the grand succession of Initiates who espoused the Alexandrian School of Philosophy. The original manuscript enunciated the Hermetic traditions of Egyptian Oriental Magic, while our Author's commentary contains the result of his life-long researches among the profundities of Chaldaic Astrology, Jewish Cabbalism, and Arabian Theurgy. The substance, however, has been republished in a modern work by a French Author, P. Christian, who in his "Histoire de la Magie," gives us the key of the teachings in a modern garb.

> A scholarly work. We all owe a debt of gratitude to Dr. Westcott for rescuing this MS. and giving us such an excellent translation; there is an Arcana in these Tarot Trumps which many modern students have vainly endeavoured to discover; the fanciful nonsense that has been circulated chiefly in France and America is hardly credible; each self-constituted Hierophant beats his own drum and shrieks himself hoarse in asserting he has the real secret; it is only another case of the blind leading the blind.

Lilly, William (1602-81)

This Author I have considered worthy of occupying the foremost place amongst Englishmen who have studied this Ancient Science, so I have thought fit to insert his portrait as a frontispiece; he flourished during the troublous times of King Charles and the Parliament, and he certainly gave the King good advice, as, when he departed from it, things went badly with him; he foretold the Great Fire of London and the Plague, and got into trouble over it, as he was accused of being an accessory to the act but happily proved his innocence. Elias Ashmole, the Antiquary, Freemason, Astrologer, and Alchemist, bought Lilly's library of books three days after his death from his widow, for the sum of fifty pounds; money in those days was worth a good deal more than it is now.

London, 1651. Collation (viii) 120 pp. and 10 leaves containing 19 woodcuts. (view)

> This is one of the Author's most important works, on account of his predicting the Plague, the Great Fire of London, the Downfall of Episcopal Power, &c., in the woodcuts at the end. The plates foretelling the Great Fire, which occurred fifteen years later, depict two children embracing one another, topsy turvy, signifying the sign Gemini which rules London, beneath which a huge fire is burning, whilst the group of people around are vainly endeavouring to quench it; another plate shows rows of burning houses on both sides of a large river, which might readily be taken to signify the Thames; the plates showing the Plague are equally significant. The original MS. of Grebner's Prophecy, as presented to Queen Elizabeth, A.D. 1574, remains in Trinity Coll. Library, Cambridge, having been presented thereto by Dr. Newell, Clerk of the Closet to the Queen. The printed editions of 1648 and 1650 are counterfeits.
